

A "Toi & Moi" gold ring set with Roman red jasper intaglios. Satyre and offerer.

Circa: 2nd century A.D.

Intaglios : 0.9 x 1.2 cm (0 <sup>3</sup>/<sub>8</sub> x 0 <sup>1</sup>/<sub>2</sub> inches)

Mounting: UK size O (resizable) ; total weight 8,93 gr

Roman imperial, 2nd century A.D.

On this double gold ring, set with two intaglios showing special scenes.

On the left, a satyre is holding a bunch of grapes with the left hand, and a pedum in the right. He is advancing right, with an erected phallus. The red colour of the stone refers to the erotic meaning of this bucolic subject.

On the right, a female figure is holding on the right hand a vessel with fruits, and ear of wheat on the left one.

Facing each other, these two characters create a beautiful balanced composition. The union of these two figures symbolizes prosperity and good luck in both wealth and love.
