

A Pair of Victorian Beetles studs/brooch.

Circa: Mid 19th century
gilted alloy copper ; banded agate

3.5 x 4.6 cm (1 <sup>3</sup>/<sub>8</sub> x 1 <sup>3</sup>/<sub>4</sub> inches)

Total weight 18,3 gr

Mid 19th century

Each body is carved in a banded agate as ancient scarabs and framed in a gilted metal box-setting with doubled-wings and legs soldered.

Screw clasps.

A charming example of the interest for natvralia and animalia during the Victorian era.